UTAH HANDICAP AND THE COLT
STAKES PROMISE SPORT.

Two races were the whole thing in the way of attraction on the opening day of the Utah state fair yesterday. Of course the fat pigs and the fat pumpkins were on hand, but the races were about the only thing ready for dress parade, and grand stand and bleachers were lined with persons.

After a little delay, caused by the opening ceremonies, the first race was called, the 2:20 pace. In the judges' stand was a fine array of racing officials. The harness events the preceding judge and starter was J. C. Lynch. The first associate was Tom Harty, the veteran official of fair races since fair races began, and the second assistant, P. P. Pomeroy, judge of the Buena Vista meeting. For the running races, Judge Pomeroy presided, with Starter Richard Dwyer at the barrier.

After the word go from Starter Lynch the first heat was sent away. Doc Keyser's Willets showed the early speed, but tired in the stretch, and L. V. Packard's Roy Wilkes, the favorite against the field, went by an easy victory. The second and third heats showed the class of the favorite and the Packard horse won in straight heats.

After showing the speed in the first heat of the second race for 2:30 trotters and pacers, J. P. Wilson's Sam T was not quite equal to the strain in the following three circuits, and R. E. Allen's Prodigal Barreness won easily. As she came from behind to win in every heat the finishes were exciting. Through an oversight in the first heat of the second race, Prodigal Barreness, who finished second, was overlooked by the judges of the finish, and Martha Dean was given second and Johnny McCoy's Dore Dream third. As the heats were paid off before the mistake was discovered, it was attributed to racing luck.

Runners Popular.
When the bugle announced the parade of the runners for the third race there was a stir of interest in the stands and the popularity of the runners was clearly seen.

The first dash, at four and one-half furlongs, saw a good field lining up at the barrier. Strong tips on Jim Brady and Roberta were going the rounds and made them the choices. Dick Dwyer got the field away in fine shape, and around the circuit the horses ran in a bunch. It re-
